Historian's Address

Commander W. J. L. Hughes and Comrades Department of Kentucky, G. A. R.:

I respectfully present the following report as Department Historian:

When I was serving this Department as Historian some years ago I presented in one of my reports an outline of what I thought most important to have presented to the young people of this country in regard to the history of the war of 1861 to '65, and grouped my suggestions under the following three heads, viz: First, the true causes of the war; second, the number of soldiers who served in the two armies, and, third, the best practical method of getting the actual facts of the war—its causes, conduct and results—presented in a way to make a lodgment in the minds of the young people of the land.

I had previously in my communications touched in a desul-tory way upon all of these subjects, and had finally mapped out a more systematic and connected plan for a series of reports to be made from year to year to fully set forth my ideas, and the historical truth, on these subjects, which I then thought, and now think to be of the greatest importance, both to the cause of enlightened patriotism and to our reputation, honor and fair fame as soldiers.

At the time the office of Historian passed into other hands, and no further progress along well defined lines was made for several years, until finally the office sought and found a comrade from a remote portion of the Department—a man of power and attainments—who was doubtless mighty with the sword in the old days and is now mighty with the pen, which latter he wields with the facility and grace of a ready writer. Under the treatment of this master hand our historical reports grew in interest from year to year until, much to my gratification, they have fully covered nearly the whole ground I had mapped out for treatment and, still more to my gratification, have been mostly along the trend of my own thought.

As an evidence of this similarity of thought I said in my report for the year 1902: "We desire that coming generations shall know that many more than the stereotyped six hundred thousand men served in the Southern armies—that every available white man of military age residing in the seceding states in 1861, and several hundred thousand more were over age, or came of age during the war, or served under age, either volunteered or were conscripted into the army, and that many thousands of men from the border states also volunteered; that these men were brave and hardy, and after being trained were as good soldiers as the world ever saw; that they were commanded by brave and accomplished officers—wary and skillful; that they fought, many of them, bravely and heroically to the end of the greatest and most destructive war of modern times, and when the end came, true to their instincts as brave soldiers, they did not degenerate into guerilla warfare, but went quietly home and became good citizens; but we insist, and must always demand, that the coming generations shall also know that these Southern armies would have been invincible if not opposed by men of equal bravery, skill and daring, and that no possible difference in numbers could avail against such veterans unless opposed by men of equal soldierly qualities. We also desire that the fact shall always, in the teaching of history, be kept prominently to the front, that while a brave man may fight heroically for a bad cause, such fact does not make the cause a good one," and that the cause which was lost in the War of the Rebellion was the cause of an Aristocracy against the Common People—a fight for, and only for, the Extension of Human Slavery.

The principal business of the Historical Society, of the Confederate Veterans, and the frenzy and fury of the Daughters of the Confederacy, seem to be directed mainly toward a new and fictitious history of the war and its causes, incidents and results; but in this they are so heavily handicapped by the official Records of the Rebellion, and by other incontrovertible documents and known facts, that their efforts will of any permanent results if the truth of history be kept constantly before the the children and young people of the land, and their efforts to permanently influence the minds of enlightened mankind will fail, as the frantic and long continued efforts of the ancestors of some of us—the rebels of 1745 in Scotland—failed to impress upon their grandchildren any respect for the worthless Pretender of his cause.

"Ye shall know them by their fruits." The Daughters of the Confederacy have fairly demonstrated the animus of the leaders of their organization (I speak not of the ladies personally or individually, but only by their hatred of "Old Glory" as it was and is and the thrusting of their absolute banner everywhere above it, but they have recently capped the climax by the erection of a monument to the best known representative in modern times of the methods of Philip the Second and Torquemada—seeming to forget the thousands of soldiers of their armies who died fighting bravely; who were gentlemen of humane principles and unquestioned honor and who lie in obscure graves, unmarked except by generosity of the government they opposed in life, monuments to whom would not beg for a place to be set up, but would be welcomed in any city, town or village in the south. As a sad memento and an honor to those heroic men let the banner they followed be buried with them, and be unfurled no more. It meant something to them, but means nothing to the world now, nor can it mean anything to the future. It has no living meaning of prestige, or power, or force, protection to the poor and lowly, or hope for the future—it is only the sad reminder of unnumbered woes and terrible misfortune and suffering which might, by wisdom, have been avoided. We all alike now look for our protection, and our hope for liberty and freedom for our descendants, to "Old Glory," the symbol of freedom among the powers of the earth, and which is honored wherever its silken folds are unfurled and float aloft on the beneficent breezes of high Heaven—the same banner that waved at Yorktown, Fort Mifflin, the Thames, Lundy's Lane, New Orleans, Buena Vista, Appomattox, Manila and Santiago, and in our affections it must have no rivals.

The history of our Department has been fully presented; the cause of our war, near and remote, have been exhaustively treated and its results fully stated; the number of men furnished to the Southern armies by each one of the seceded and border states has been ascertained from the most authentic sources and tabulated by my distinguished predecessor, and some attention has been paid in my former reports to the best methods of getting these facts before the rising generation—the last subject being the only one not fully elaborated.

So I can see no more to be written, and feel that this department of our work is about finished—as all our work must soon be—and do not believe the office of Historian can be profitably continued much longer. If it is to be continued I suggest that some comrade be selected who can wield an abler pen than mine and who has some new ideas to express: I will say before closing that in my opinion no immediate step could be taken that would be half so effective toward disseminating among the rising generation a general knowledge of the truth concerning the war for the preservation of the union as to encourage the circulation of the National Tribune.
It is the one publication that is always for us and our interests against all enemies and traitors and has always done me to maintain our honor, and to straighten out false statements, and to correct false, made to order history, than all other agencies of which I have knowledge. I differ widely from the editors of the Tribune upon many subjects, and at times get very tired of reading the howl of the discontented in regard to pension, widows' pensions, retaining worn-out clerks in office, officers' pay, etc., and grow over the interminable medical advertisements, but I more and more realize that we could not do without it, and that through it the truth of history is carried weekly to hundreds of thousands of readers that have no other means of obtaining it, and I suggest that its circulation and influence might be greatly extended if every comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic, who is not now a subscriber, would subscribe for the paper for himself and his family and for at least one extra copy to be sent to some worthy poor person who is not able to take it.

In Col. McElroy and Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball, two of its editors, we have as able champions as any cause ever boasted—ready at all times to take up the cudgels for us and our cause against all comers, and to maintain our rights and interests with a zeal and ability that have never been surpassed in journalism, and which should at least be rewarded by some expression of our appreciation.

Possibly it is never too late to do some good, and probably it is well to die in harness. I have attended many Encampments, and miss many, yea most, of the familiar faces of our earlier meetings. Let us all hold on to the end—it is not far off. We will meet but a few more times at best, and some of us will not be at the next Encampment. If we should meet no more let us all remember how we have been blessed by being able to meet together in our Encampments for so many years; that we have lived and had our long day in the greatest age of the world, and have had the honor of participating in some notable events of its history, and that our services and sufferings in the fields of our youth, and our best efforts and influence through our long lives, have been always for, and never against, our flag and united country, and for the liberty and happiness of all mankind.

Respt. presented in F., C. & L.
CYRUS EDWARDS,

SUICIDE.

On last Tuesday morning at about 7:15 a young man by the name of Clifford Williams, entered the Croley Hdw. & Groc. Co's store, and asked to see a rifle.
John Croley showed him a Stephens 32 caliber, and he asked to see the kind of cartridge that was used in the gun, and about this time the telephone rang John went to answer the phone, and as he turned the man Williams stepped to the door and placing the weapon to his temple he sent a ball through his brain, and his soul speeding through the space of time to await the awful judgment.

We do not know Williams, or his people, but an uncle came down from Middlesboro, and took his remains to that city. He was a man about 20 years old, stout, and robust. He left a note saying that he intended to do the act, telling all goodbye. We are told that he tried to procure opiates from various people, and had also tried other places to get firearms.
This is the first case of suicide that we remember of having been committed in this city.

HON. W. R. HENRY

I solicit your support and influence in my race for the Republican nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 34th Judicial District of Kentucky, embracing the counties of Knox, Whitley and McCreary.

I was born, reared and educated in Whitley County, Kentucky and I have been engaged in the practice of law in this Judicial District for more than fourteen years and I feel that those who know my life, character and legal attainments believe me qualified to fill the high office to which I aspire, and did I not feel that I could truly serve the real and best interests of the people of this District I would not be a candidate.

I was solicited before the last primary election for the nomination of county officers, to become a candidate for a county office in Whitley County upon the B-L Moose ticket, and I was assured by several of the workers and leaders of that ticket that I could secure a nomination without opposition. I declined to accept same and became a candidate for the nomination for County Attorney subject to the action of the Republican party. I was defeated for the nomination. All the nominees of the Republican party were opposed in the final election by a Bull Moose ticket, and I at my own expense campaigned Whitley County in behalf of my opponent in the primary and the other Republican nominees.

If given the nomination of the Republican party for Commonwealth's Attorney of this District I promise a thorough and energetic campaign of the entire District in behalf of the Republican nominees of Kentucky.

I shall thank you for any support you may be able to give me in this race. W. R. HENRY.

Famous Medicine, Tanlac, Draws Ingredients from Distant Points

Louisville, March 17th, 1915.
L. T. Cooper, the man who electrified the larger cities with his philanthropy, health theories and medicine, is now meeting hundreds daily in Louisville and explaining the nature of his celebrated preparation, Tanlac.

To a group of friends at The Seelbach, where he is stopping, Mr. Cooper stated that the medicinal elements or properties, which go to make up his medicine Tanalac, came from many remote sections of the globe. The Alps, Apennines, Pyrenees, Russian Asia, Jamaica, Brazil, West Indies, Mountain States near the Rocky Mountains, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Eussia, England, France, Germany, Mexico, Colombia and Peru were among the points he mentioned as furnishing the ingredients for the premier preparation.

In his principal laboratory, the roots, barks and flowers or the medicine in its rough, is assembled under the personal direction of a German chemist of note and skillfully made to obtain of the high state of efficiency that is shown by the uniform preparation Tanalac.

In sterilized bottles, made expressly for the purpose, Tanlac is placed, labeled, inspected and then shipped out over the world where the demand requires.
Mr. Cooper, having made an extensive study of catarrhal affections, was asked to express himself upon that subject. He said:
"Most of the so-called stomach liver and kidney troubles are due almost entirely to a catarrhal inflammation of those organs. The constant coughing up of mucus, dull, throbbing headaches, pains in the pit of stomach, and the persistent susceptibility to coughs and colds, are common symptoms from which so many suffer."

"Tanalac, the preparation I am introducing to combat this condition, preserves your health, gives you renewed energy, brightens your spirits, lengthens your life and is an unmistakable, unfailing comfort to the thousands who suffer from catarrh and its distressing consequences."

Tanalac can now be bought in Barbourville Kentucky at the Herndon Drug Co.

The Secret of Success

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particular to a medicine.
A medicinal preparation that that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says:
"Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp Root is due to the fact that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention The Barbourville weekly Mountain Advocate.

Come in and pay your subscription and watch us smile.

That Tired Feeling

Do You Continually Feel Sluggish. Disinterested?

It is generally agreed by experts in this country and Europe that calomel has a very violent effect on the system. This accounts for the familiar disagreeable feeling accompanying a dose, and the weakened condition following it.

Liv-Ver-Lax is a harmless vegetable compound, that is a mild, but effective substitute for calomel. It has all the effectiveness, but not the effect of calomel. Its splendid value has brought it into such wide use that in some States it has almost entirely replaced calomel.

Just try Liv-Ver-Lax once, and you'll never use calomel again. Insist on the genuine, bearing the likeness and signature of L. K. Grigsby, which is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. For sale by any druggist—Adv.

Loss by Forest Fires.
Forest fires in the United States have caused an average annual loss of 70 human lives and the destruction of $25,000,000 worth of timber.

Wilhelm II. and the House of Hohenzollern.

The family of the German emperor William II takes its name from castle of Zollern, or Hohenzollern, built at the beginning of the 9th. century by Thassilo of Burchardinger, a Swabian count.

The castle is situated on mount Zollern 1-1/2 miles south of Hechingen. The first counts of Hohenzollern were Burchard and Wessel. They are mentioned as having fallen in a party feud in 1061. The two sons of Frederick III, inherited the titles and estate of their father. Conrad III, established the Frandish line and his brother Frederick IV the Swabian. The Frandish line gained in influence and was raised to the princely rank in the person of Frederick V, and the Swabian line in its two branches, Hohenzollern-Hechingen and Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen was also raised to that rank in 1623 and 1628 respectively. In 1701 the elector of Prussia, Frederick III became the first king of that state.

From the establishment of the kingdom the Prussian state began to gain importance and Frederick the Great, against whom nearly all the states of Europe were arrayed at one time or another by his success assured for Prussia an important place in Europe.

But Prussia's greatest enemy was Austria. The great Bismarck knew this and seized an opportunity in 1866 to make war on that state completely defeat her at the battle of Koniggratz after that Prussia has been regarded as the natural leader of the German states. In 1871, under William I, Bismarck completed the union of the North German States and his master, William I. king of Prussia, became, also, emperor of the new German empire. Bismarck's genius and the resentment of the German states toward France made the union possible and when Prussia declared war on France in 1870 she found herself supported by the other north German states.

The present king-emperor William II. was born in Berlin in 1859 and ascended the throne in 1888.

In person he is amiable, just and very popular with his people.

He is a great believer in the doctrine of the "Divine Rights," of kings and possesses great ability to govern and especially, he is noted as an organizer of government departments. He has built a great German navy and his military system is the model for the nations. He has greatly enlarged German influence abroad and Germany has become a colonies in the Far East, in Africa and in America. The German school system, also, is a wonderful organization and the German people are, perhaps, the best educated people in the world. Concerning German's Connection with the present war.

It is generally admitted that she considered herself forced into it through political reasons rather than because of any desire on her on her part but it is true also, perhaps, that to German militarism and the consequent competition in armament among the nations may be traced the primary cause of the war.

ITOM COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

Rules For Correspondents

Here are ten rules for country correspondents. They were prepared by an experienced newspaper man. Cut them out and keep them. Then try to make your next letter to the Mountain Advocate conform with all of the rules:

1. Do not abbreviate. Do not write Mr. & Mrs., but Mr. and Mrs.; not Mon. or Sat. but Monday or Saturday.
2. Leave space between items for correction or additions.
3. Give both initials. Write C. H. Brown instead of Mr. Brown or Mr. C. Brown.

4. Write important subjects fully. Do not dismiss the death of a well known pioneer in half a dozen words, but write something of interest concerning him. If suicide or murder give all the details you can get.

5. Have verbs agree with subject. Don't say Mr. and Mrs. B. was but Mr. and Mrs. B. were.

Mr. and Mrs. B. may be one scripturally. But they are two grammatically.

6. Don't use nicknames. Use James Brown instead of Jim Brown, Edward instead of Ed.

7. Give the time in an item. Mr. Brown was in Lansing, the house burned down, are incomplete. Tell when things happened.

8. Divide words correctly. Don't divide such words as enough, e-nough.

9. Don't send articles reflecting upon the character of individuals or firms. The newspaper is not looking for libel suits; neither does it care to right your personal wrongs.

10. Write your name and town at top of page. Last but most important rule of all. It is most essential that the newspaper know from whom the news is received and from what place.

Important suggestions, though not a rule: Carefully look over your news after it is published and note what changes had to be made.

while the ten rules given above are important as relating to written news, yet there is one rule supersedes them all—Telephone really important news at once.

For State Treasurer.

In this issue will be found the announcement of Hon. E. L. Moore of Marion, Ky. as a candidate for the Republican Nomination for State Treasurer, we hope that Mr. Moore comes up to the Standard, of good runners, as we are sure if we get that high class of Republicans nominated that we should, and they will do their duty, as such Nominees, and make a thorough campaign this fall, that victory is ours. The people of Kentucky, are good and tired of the Democratic Administration, both State and Nation, and we believe that this fall is the time for another change, and we will sure get it if we do our duty.

OUT FOR STATE TREASURER

Dr. R. L. Moore, of Marion Ky. Ollie James' home town—is the first to shy his castor into the ring for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer, his formal announcement having been given to the press yesterday. If nominated and elected, he will become a member of the State Board of Valuation and Assessment in conjunction with the State Auditor and Secretary of State, which shows that he will have other important duties besides handling the State's finances.

Dr. Moore, who is fifty-four years old, is one of the leading Republicans of Western Kentucky. He was born and reared on a farm, educated in his home school and graduated from the Universities of Louisville and Chicago.

He began the practice of medicine in 1882 and continued this about fifteen years. In 1902 he began the practice of law and is one of the leading lawyers at the Marion bar. He served as president of the Marion bank for ten years and for ten years was vice president of the Farmers banks at that place. He is also elder in the Presbyterian church. Dr. Moore's experience as a banker eminently fit him for the office of Treasurer, and being a good business man will be a valuable addition to the Board of Valuation and Assessment, something that is badly needed at that time. The State of Kentucky, and those having business with the Board of valuation and Assessment have a right to demand the nomination and election of good men to fill those offices, especially when it is taken into consideration that all of the franchises of the State come under the jurisdiction of that board. Dr. Moore, who is a good speaker, will be able to take care of himself on the stump, and enter the race with a strong following.

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me."

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me. I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

Write for: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case when you get Cardui. Home Examinations for Women, sent in 7c. in stamps. 100-11

HENRY BOSWORTH IN RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP IN OLD KENTUCKY

State Auditor Who Has Helped to Bring About Fairer Valuation of Franchises of Big Corporations Is a Candidate For Democratic Nomination.

RUNNING ON RECORD AS PUBLIC SERVANT

Full Day's Work For Full Day's Pay and a Square Deal in Taxation For Rich and Poor Alike in His Platform.

To the Democrats of Kentucky:

After due reflection I have fully decided to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of this great state. I do this with a full sense of the high responsibility I carry, and the obligation that will rest upon me if elected. I have been a Democrat all my life and have never voted against a party nominee. My father before me was a Democrat, and I am proud to say that I have five brothers of the same faith, all of whom have been equally loyal with myself to the Democratic faith, and I now ask that the people of this great commonwealth shall railroad companies and other corporations liable to a franchise tax had been inadequately assessed for many years, and consequently were not paying their fair proportion of the taxes due the state and the counties and cities therein. During my campaign for auditor in 1911, I pledged the people that, if elected, I would fully and fairly investigate this subject and, if I found that the franchises of these corporations were not fairly assessed, as chairman of the board I would use my power to correct any official delinquency that had theretofore existed in that respect.

Soon after entering upon my official duties as auditor I caused a careful examination to be made of the reports made by all corporations for assessment purposes to ascertain whether these corporations in the past had been adequately assessed for the purposes of finding out the truth as to the actual value of this character of property in the state.

I had this information carefully prepared, in writing, and when the time came to assess these franchises laid it before my colleagues on this board. The result of the investigation I made of this subject showed that most of the small companies doing business in the state had previously been properly assessed, but the large corporations of the state, those with great power and political influence, had been grossly under-assessed (either by design or through incompetency). One of the most flagrant examples of favoritism extended by my predecessors in office was that of valued by the companies that the property of the railroad companies was assessed at more than its real value by the present board, and that the assessment against farm lands and city lots must be raised before the assessment against the property of the railroad companies could be increased.

I do not believe the farm lands of this state are generally assessed for taxation and valuation as low as one-half of their real value. If the value of the farm lands of this state should be estimated by capitalizing the net income derived therefrom on the basis of a per cent, which method is employed to find the value of railroad property, it would be demonstrated that real estate at present is assessed at approximately the full value thereof. In other words, if the same mode or method of ascertaining value should be applied to find the value of real estate it would be shown that real estate is assessed at its full value. The court, preliminary to issuing an injunction, required these companies to pay on a valuation greatly in excess of any sum they had paid on in previous years. The aggregate increase in the amount of taxes paid by these companies in the year 1912 over the year 1911 was about $125,000. In the years 1913 and 1914 a like sum was collected from these companies. During the three years of my administration these four companies have paid to the state $375,000 more in taxes than was paid by them during a like period of time under the administration of my immediate predecessors. These suits now pending, when decided, will determine finally the amount of taxes these companies will have to pay annually to the state in the future, and the question of the real value of this property will no longer be open to discussion.

It is important that the question of value of these franchises should be judicially determined and forever settled, because the belief has prevailed in this state among all the people for some years that the big corporations of the state were always active in politics of the two dominant parties in the state, with the end in view of being favored in the assessment of their franchises. With franchises of corporations assessed at their real value, as they should be, the corporations will be taken out of politics in this state, as they ought to be.

As auditor of the state for the past three years I have also been a member of the sinking fund commission of the state and, having information gained while acting in that capacity, I believe I am thoroughly familiar with the fiscal affairs of the state.

I am in favor of and, if elected, will advocate the passage of a law that will require that all state supplies used at all state institutions to be purchased by the competitive bidding system, and that the lowest open bid for supplies furnished all institutions be accepted, and I believe the state could easily save $100,000 a year by inaugurating such a system.

I am in favor of and will work for, if elected governor, the establishment of a system of taxation that will be fair and just to rich and poor alike, and that will cause the listing of personal property for taxation, which now, because of the rate of taxation in many taxing districts, does not pay any taxes at all, and that will place the burden of taxation where it belongs, on those best able to bear it. I am in favor of such legislation, or of a constitutional amendment, if necessary, to put a fixed and definite limit upon the rate of taxation in Kentucky, a step which I believe will cause our officials to follow a policy of economy and efficiency in the handling of the people's funds.

I am opposed to the convict labor system and favor the abolition of the present contract system and the elimination of the competition with organized labor that is the direct result of it. I am in favor of the use of convicts to produce what is needed by the state institutions and of the purchase of a farm on which they may labor in the open air to produce the foods needed in these institutions.

I am in thorough sympathy with the farmer, having been a farmer and living on a farm all my life. I will do all I can as governor for the great agricultural interests of Kentucky and the men and women engaged in it. As long as the farmer is prosperous every other interest in the state is prosperous, and all her people share in disaster to them as well as in their prosperity.

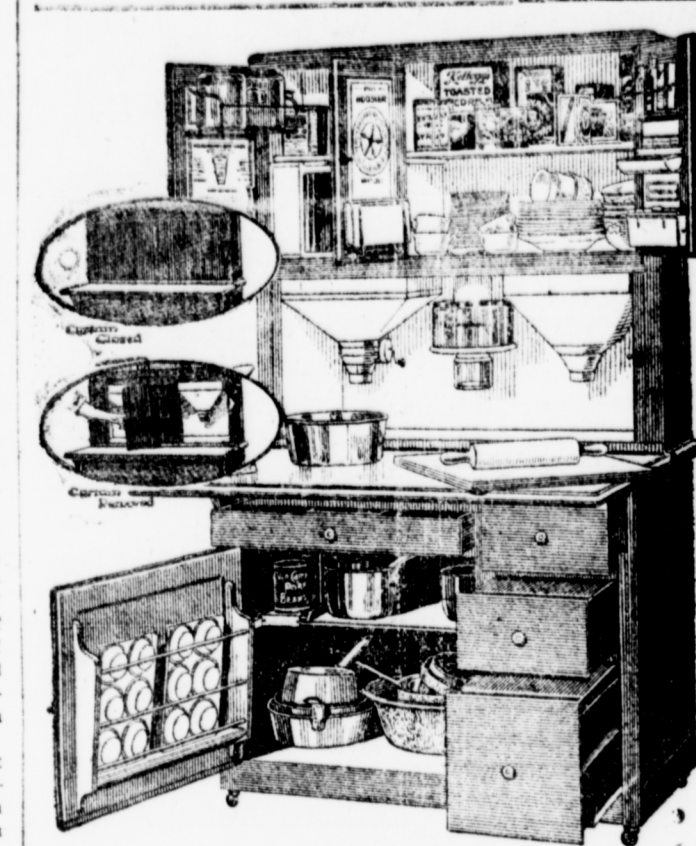

If I am elected governor I will do all I can to further the good roads movement, and all that is possible to secure a liberal appropriation for the schools and their continued improvement.

If the people want for governor of the state a man who will devote his time and what talents he may have entirely to their welfare, without regard to any future political preference (for I believe there can be no higher office, certainly no higher honor, than the governorship of the state in which I was born and reared), then I want the nomination. There is no reason why the officials of the state should fail to give to the state the same devotion to duty as is exacted by any business corporation of its employees, and I promise the people not only to devote that time myself to their interests, but so far as I may have the power to see that every other employee in executive departments of the state government does the same. A full day's work for a full day's pay will be the motto followed in the governor's office if I am elected, and it will apply to all the other departments over which I may have even the semblance of control.

Richmond

(Knox County Student.)

The Superintendent's Convocation held here last week was a grand success. There were noted speakers here from all over the State. State Superintendent Hamlet, Senator Brock, of the 33rd District, R. S. Eubank, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart and others besides the most of the Superintendents from the sixty nine counties had speeches for us.

Each Congressional District gave a reception to their respective Superintendents on Wednesday night; delicious refreshments were served and everybody seemed to have a jolly time.

Sawyer A. Mills, spokesman for the Eleventh District, delivered an excellent address. W. W. Evans gave the reply, one that was excelled by none of the County Superintendents.

The noted lecturer, Frank Dixon, was here Thursday night and lectured to about fifteen hundred people.

HERBINE cures constipation and reestablishes regular bowel movements. Price 50c. Sold by J. Frank Hawn Barbourville Ky Advt.

Danville Ky. March 16, 1915. Work has just begun on the rebuilding of the big gymnasium of Centre College, of this city, that was burned in November.

The foundation and some of the walls of the old building are uninjured. The debris has now been cleared away. Lumber, steel, brick and stone for the new building are ready to be put in place. The work is being pushed steadily forward so as to be completed by early summer.

It will be remembered that the gymnasium building that was burned in November was itself a new building, not having been formally thrown open for use.

It was the largest and most complete building of the kind in Kentucky, and was equaled by only a few in the South. It is being rebuilt on the same plan, except for a minor improvement.

The increased attention now given to religious work at our colleges is illustrated by a successful series of religious meetings that have been held at Centre College and the Kentucky College for Woman in this city.

The Rev. Thomas White, the Presbyterian student-pastor at the University of Indiana, conducted these meetings. Every morning for a week he spoke to the students of K. C. W. and of Centre College at their respective chapel periods on moral and religious problems that especially concern young women and young men. He also held conference periods, during which he talked personally with individual students. It is believed that the result of these meetings will be a permanent strengthening of the religious vitality of the two educational institutions.

form their judgment of my character, honesty and intelligence and fitness for the office, after a critical examination of my official conduct, and after making careful inquiries of those who know me as to my reputation for honesty and fair dealing to all men, and it is for them to say whether I am entitled to a continuation of that support and of the confidence they have in the past so generously accorded me.

While acting as treasurer of the state during the fearful financial panic of 1907, I made such disposition of the funds of the state in my care during that critical time as to preserve the credit of the state, without imperiling or destroying the credit of a single institution in the state and without the loss of a single dollar of the state's funds.

The auditor of the state, by virtue of his office is chairman of the board of valuation and assessment of the state of Kentucky, which board has entrusted to it a duty which is of more importance to the people of the state than any other duty connected with that office. It is the function of that board of which I have been chairman for the past three years, to value and assess for taxation, the franchises of all railroad companies and public service corporations doing business within the state. This character of property forms a considerable proportion of the total taxable property in the state and the amount of taxes these companies are required to pay is dependent upon the nature of the assessment made against them. That is, if the assessment of their property is too low, these corporations will not be charged with their full share of the public burden. If too high, then the owners thereof pay more than their fair proportion of the taxes of the state.

It was a matter of common report and general belief among the people of this state that the franchises of the Cincinnati Gas Transportation company. The franchise of this company was assessed for the year 1911 at $30,824 and paid to the state taxes on that assessment amounting to $154. For the year 1912 the franchise of this company was assessed by the present board at $1,866,385 and paid to the state that year the sum of $9,331 in taxes, and a like sum for each succeeding year.

During the four years of my administration this one company will have paid to the state in taxes on its franchise on the assessment made by this board the sum of $37,324, whereas, had this board permitted the assessment of previous years to stand, it would in four years have paid the state $616. The state will have received from this company on the increase of its assessment in four years the sum of $36,708, enough to pay the salary of state auditor for ten years.

The total assessed value of the franchises of all corporations in the state for the taxing year of 1911 was $48,241,647, on which the state received in taxes the sum of $241,213.22. The total assessed value of the franchises of all corporations in the state made by the present board, of which I am chairman, for the year 1913 was $132,421,415, on which the taxes due the state amounted to $612,107. On this assessment in the increase of the revenues of the state amounted to $376,359 a year. In four years the increase in revenues of the state from this source will amount to $1,506,996 in round numbers.

The four largest railroad companies in the state brought suit in the federal court in Kentucky enjoining the collection of the increased taxes levied on their franchises. The principal grounds relied upon by these companies to maintain their suit was, in substance, that the farm lands and other real estate in Kentucky was not assessed at more than one-half of its real value (it was not assessed at
